THE FRONT PORCH

This 1950's one and a half storey Applewood Acres house was replicated throughout the neighbourhood at the time of original construction. The program requirements were modest; a small master bedroom over the garage, an expanded main bath on the second floor and a front porch that would distinguish this home from his neighbours. The objectives were to be respectful to both the existing home's character and limited budget. The result is a charming "cottage-like" home that maintained its brick exterior with close attention paid to proportion and detailing.
