THE WINDOW BOX

Although its arts and crafts architectural predisposition is on display, this home's soaring interior spaces and unique courtyard floor plan provide its dominant characteristics. Most principal interior spaces have access to the courtyard as well as rear or side yards. The result is a delightful play of light and openness that permeates the entire home. Creating space that feels larger than its actual size was a core design objective that was successfully achieved. Fine exterior detailing and a subtle colour palette contribute to a neighbourhood friendly result.
